INDIVIDUAL REFLECTION

Many times, we notice the differences between people, but Corey and Jason talked about noticing their similarities when they first met. Why is it important to notice ways we are similar?

Corey and Jason talk about being friends even though they in some ways they appear different. Why is it unfair to base friendship on the way someone else looks? Corey and Jason mention that sometimes each of them has gotten upset with the other. Why is it important to find ways to remain friends even when there is a problem?
